

We're always on lookout so you don't have to be.

Phone hackers usually strike after hours or on the weekend when detection is least likely. In milliseconds they can crack the passwords protecting your phone system (even if they're 16 digits long) and hijack it to make expensive international calls — and your phone company will expect you to pay. So you'll have to be on alert all the time to prevent any nasty shocks when you get your phone bill. But with Control Phreak you don't have to be. It's on lookout all the time automatically identifying and killing any hacking attempts on your phone system — all day, every day.
